Our city was quite well crowded yesterday with people from the country, and the retail stores seemed to be doing a lively business. Everybody was laying in something for the Christmas holidays and for the little ones. This morning, as a result, it will be found that Santa Claus has visited many a hearthstone and made many a little heart glad,

The telegrams a few days since gave the announcement that P. H. Winston, Jr., late Reading Clerk of the N. C. Senate, had received an appointment under the Clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives, but failed to give his position. We see from the Washington papers that he is Folder in the Clerk's office, with a salary of $2.100.

THE BROOKLYN M. E. CHURCH .-The young men of the Methodist churches of this city have within the last 12 months, assisted by the citizens of Brooklyn, a small town located just North-West of Raleigh, (formerly known by the euphonious name of "Save Rent,") have built a small church in that village in which services are held quite often, but which is at present devoted more exclusively to the purposes of a Sabbath School held there regularly every Sunday. This school is at present in a flourishing condition, having some 65 regular attendants. It is under the Superintendency of E. B. Thomas, Esq., with Mr. Geo. W. Moore, as Assistant, and with a number of young men from the Edenton Street Church of this city acting as teachers. This is a commendable work, and we bid those who have the matter in charge God speed in their work. Last night a handsome Christmas tree was prepared at this church for the young people, and the occasion was a most pleasant one. It was opened with prayer by Mr. E. B. Thomas, accompanied with music, after which Mr. Moore, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, presented the scholars with the wonderfu! things which had grown on this tree under the management of the agents of kind Santa Claus. The citizens of Brooklyn appreciate most kindly the efforts of the citizens of Raleigh to look after both their spiritual and temporal welfare. The occasion was closed with an appropriate address from Mr. H. S. Keith, who has contributed largely to the building of the church.

CHRISTMAS ADDRESSES.-The Newscarrier boys, who have throughout the year delivered the paper to our city patrons, will this morning wait upon the subscribers with handsome and well-written Christmas adone, since he travels through the most pleasant weather, very much of the time before daylight, to lay the paper fresh and damp from the press. at the doors of the patrons. There are few, we imagine, who, remembering these things will deny the pitallege that it is not well earned. We speak this word in behalf of the boys. and trust that the purse strings will fly open at the time of their coming.

CHRISTMAS TREES .- We last night visited Swain Street Baptist Church, Person Street M. E. Church, and the Parsonage of the Presbyterian Church, at each of which heavily ladened Christmas trees had been prepared for the Sunday School scholars of the several churches. The beautiful scenes presented and the joyful faces of the young people were really delightful to look upon, and we could only wish for the sake of the enjoyment given on these occasions that they could recur a half dozen times a

A TEMPERANCE LECTURER.-Mr. George M ilo Dutcher, one of the best temperance orators in the country. will deliver a lecture at Metropolitan Hall Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock on the question of temperance. Mr. Dutcher was in Richmond, Va., last week, and the Dispatch has this to say of him:

"Mr. George Milo Dutcher, the great temperance orator, preached at the Broad Street Methodist church Sunday at 11 A. M. Seldom has a more impressive discourse been heard in this city. Mr. Dutcher is an eloquent speaker. He is not eloquent in the technical sense of that term. His style is that of simple narrative, unadorned with artificial imagery, very plain and natural; and his delivery is happily free from the dramatic ges ticulation and his rionic performanc s so common among temperance lec turers. He tells a simple story : but he tells it so that it melts the heart, and makes eyes unused to weeping grow dim with tears. Mr. Du cher, from the beginning, impresses you with the conviction of his deep piety and solemn earnestness; and the impression deepens to the closing word. He is founding a home for inebtiates on the banks of the Hudson river.— For this noble enterprise he received a handsome contribution from the audience. Mr. Dutcher leaves this city to-morrow for Raleigh, N. C. His influence will be very beneficial to any community which may secure his services. Mr. Dutcher delivered a most elegant temperance address at Trinity church Sunday night to a large and deeply interested audience. He took the ground that temperance work Church; that the work is authorized and commanded by the Bible, and demanded by all the instincts of com-mon humanity. His delineations of the sufferings entailed upon the world by the use of intoxicating drinks was very forcible and affecting, particularly the sufferings of his own family. He made an earnest ap-peal to hearls of mutiles as well as to the young men to give up the intexieating cup on the grounds of philan thropy, humanity, and religion."

THE CASE OF J. F. PORTER, -- The Wilmington Star has the this to say from this city, and who was afterwards arrested in Wilmington upon a requistion from the Governor of Georgia and the subsequent order

"We learn that J. F. S. Wise, offering to voluntarily surrender nimself and serve his term out provided his liberty shall be secured to him at the expiration of his sentence and that he shall suffer no further annoyance on account of what has passed.

OUR WASHINGTON CORRES-PONDENCE.

The Comment on Kerr's Committees-What Democratic Policy will do-Randall and His Committee-Other Committees, &c.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23, 1875. In the vehement discussion, tinged with the fervor of wounded self-love, and sharp disappointment of personal hope, that followed the announcement of Mr. Kerr's committees, the prevalent comment was not flattering to the Speaker's discrimination. nor auspicious of the success of his administration. But as discussion has become more sober and dispas sionate, the outlook is better for harmony, and the country have assurance of an able and honest policy on the part of the Democratic House of Representatives. WHAT DEMOCRATIC POLICY WILL B"

There are certain salient features in the House organization that must be remembered in forecasting the policy which will be vigorously inaugurated after the holidays, and pressed, let us hope, to the successful consummation of helping the country and giving the Democracy increased capital for the doubtful struggle of next autumn. We see first an almost distinctively Western House organization in the officers elected by the House, and we see in the committee appointments made by a strict-construction, hard-money, and freetrade, Western Democrat, an overwhelming preponderance of the West and South embodied in the leading Democrats of those sections to whom the posts of honor have been accorded. These leading Southern and Western Democrats holding views on cardinal political questions in harmony with those of the speaker .-These facts are rightly interpreted to promise for the Democracy : 1st. The speediest possible return to a hard-money financial basis; 2nd, a revenue tariff; 3rd, economy in public expenditures. Perhaps it would be reasonable to go farther and claim on a fourth feature of probable Congressional policy aid to the Southern Pacific Railroad. And this latter proposition finds no contradiction in the overwhelming affirmative vote open Holman's resolution condemnatory of subsidies.

RANDALL AND HIS COMMITTEE. Events will demonstrate that Mr. Randall is in a far better position to achieve distinction than if he had | which would have given him liberty. ecured the glittering bauble of the speakership. As chairman of the committee on Appropriations, he will have the honor of introducing measures that will reduce the expense of the government not less than twentyfive millions. That would be a powerful card for the Democracy next year. The people need to be and desire to be astonished with some such work of practical economy. Randall's second on the committee is Holman of Indiana. Ordinarily Holman is hardly a man to command the admiration of the judicious, but in the emergency he will be of service by reason of his almost fanatical views of public economy. His creed is that the government should be run always at the minimum of expense. He bears the somewhat cheaply-earned sobriquet belonging to Wasburne of Illinois, since the war. and to ex-Gov. Letcher of Virginia before the war, of the "watch dog of the Federal Treasury." The committee on Appropriations will be ready with work for Congress when t shall have returned from the enoyments of the Christmas season. Randall preferred the chairmanship of this committee, because he has made its duties a subject of special study. In the Army and Navy Departments especially a very slight investigation already given promise f a reduction in expenses that will delight the country, however much it may worry certain officals-especially Mr. Secretary Robeson and his numerous retainers. It is believed here confidently that the Navy Department will show some ugly ulcers. Members of Congress openly declare their belief in the complete rottenness on Appropriations is composed of men of character and strength. THE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE is pronounced on all sides exceptionally strong. The country understands the circumstances of Mr. Morrison's assignment to the head of this Committee, usually deemed the chief Committee of the House, Fernando Wood is second, and it is reasonable to suppose will materially help to shape its policy, because of his long experience and great information. John Hancock, of Texas, is a member of the Committee, and is a man of ability and studious habits. He made a fine impression at Philadelphia at the Centennial banquet. Other Democratic members are Ben. Hill, of Georgia, Ran Tucker, of Virginia, C. W. Chapin, of Massachusetts, and Philip F. Thomas, of Maryland. The latter was once Secretary of the Treasury, and has a naprobably the best debator on the Committee, if not on the floor of the House. Tucker is a very gifted and pure man of the very best Virglnian pure man of the very best Virglnian tions. tional reputation for ability. Hill is of the naval administration. In the sundry Civil, Executive, and Legislative bills will be found attractive fields of economy. The committee ley, Garfield and Buschard, Republicans, are also of the Ways and Means Committee. Mr. Kerr's fairness to his opponents cannot be better illustrated than by the assignment of their best men to this important Committee. It looks a little like a stroke of policy, however, to put two such Republican artipodes as Blaine and Kelley together. Judge Kelley is hardly regarded as being in full communion with his party, because of his ultra greenback views. He has had large experience on this Committee, and is declared by his friends to be the best informed member of the Committee upon questions of political economy. OTHER COMMITTEES. The Banking and Currency Committee, headed by Mr Cox, is deemed almost altra hard money committee, although Mr. Cox, in the Ohio canvass, very skilfully rode the fence on the currency issues. The strongest member is Henry B. Payne, of Ohio. Lamar's assignment to the Chairmanship of the Committee on Pacific Roads is declared to be a clear utterance in favor of the Southern > strengthened by the overwhelming majority of the Committee in favor of that enterprise, THE HOLIDAY SEASON, &C. The merchants of Washington are reaping a harvest during the current week. For days Pennsylvania Avenue has been thronged with a gay multitude of purchasers. A feature of the Avenue is the tasteful decoration of the store-window. Broadway, itself, cannot excel the beautiful thoroughfare in variety and magnificence of display and decoration by the shop-keepers. Raymond, who is now soon to visit Raleigh and other Southern cities, is giving Col. Mulberry Sellers to hundreds of people at the National Theatre every night, closing his engagement this week. In politics the Christmas lull is complete. Even the National Republican, of this morning, abates its usually profuse display of virus, and yields to the pacific imperativeness

Pacific-a conclusion which is of the season. F. H. A. NORTH CAROLINA.

On Saturday night Randolph Sut-ton, sentenced to be hanged on the 21st of January, made an attempt to escape from jail in Concord. He succeeded in wresting from its position one of the iron bars of the window to his cell and had another almost out, then the quick ear of Deputy Sherin Murr caught the sound of his work and Randolph was detected just as liberty seemed almost certain. Says the Murfreesboro Enquirer The residence of Mr. Levi Burgess, about three miles distant from towns was burned on Saturday last. The entire contents were consumed, together with a bale or more of cotton that was deposited near by. The fire originated from sparks blowing in ome cotton. In a few minutes. to Mr. Deberry's agreeable surprise, he saw the dog returning, bringing along the turkey, which was held by the neck in the dog's mouth. We are glad to hear from them that the University is in a prosperous condition. menceing with forty students, it gradually increased until at the close of the first term it numbered sixtyfive. The second term commences on the 6th of January, and we ar sure that there will be a large number of students who will enter then. Some have been holding back to see if the University would succeed, and others were kept away on account of the time the last session commenced -that is, it commenced after all the other schools in the State, thereby

A HOLIDAY.

No paper will be issued from this office until Wednesday morning to give our employees a little taste of that leisure which is so abundantly enjoyed by the rest of the world, but which the exacting duties of a printer's life makes impossible to him except at that single period of the year which the whole christian world recognizes as a holiday. Our readers may well indulge them in this, since the lull in political life is complete, and the wheels of business at a stand, only to be set in motion again under the reviving impulses of the New Year,

Ir is to be doubted whether Morton can get up another excitement on the Mississippi question. He is met at the very threshold by the unprejudiced opinions of Alcorn and Revels, both Republicans, and one a negro. They give the touch-stone to the Republican defeat, and nothing farther may be sought than the infamous government of Ames and the universal dishonesty of officeholders. Surely Morton does not propose to hold the noses of the colored men of Mississippi forever may stand enrolled as a Republican VALMASEDA, retiring from the Captain-Generalship of Cuba, exposes some of the interior transactions in his administration. A member of his personal staff had been accused of fraudulent transactions; when the authorities attempted to investigate the matter he defied them. Verily great men are very much alike. Grant and Valmaseda read out of the same book. Babcock and the Cuban defaulter may be transposed, and the Cuban officials and the St. Louis trial may stand one for the other. The Despot of the ever faithful isle is a fair parallel to a President who would be very glad to exercise supreme power.

THE proposition of the President and the Secretary of the Treasury to tax tea and coffee finds universal opposition from the press. Let the government reduce its expenses by a return to reasonable economy. Let it push its prosecutious against thieves, conspirators and defaulters, and it will have no need to oppress the country, and make the people of the country feel additional weight of taxation by a revenue derived from what is a necessity to the masses. And let it be remembered that a duty levied now, puts five or six million dollars into the hands of speculators who hold back immense stocks introduced free of duty, with the hope of selling at the same price it would sell for if it had paid duty.

WE greet our readers with the usual Christmas salutations. A happy Christmas to all. And to our younger readers we extend the wish that the rosy hues of this natal morn may long contend with the sober grey which must in time extinguish its brightness. The charms, the novelties, the excitements of a christmas morning from a perfect epideme of human life, its hopes and its expectations. Bright and beautiful and exuberant in its happiness, the young mind paints all the future in the same glowing radiance. Time and experience are the great disenchanters. The sad experience of life soon tarnishes the vivid coloring, and sober realities soon affix their sombre tints.

But moralizing will not destroy the present pleasures of the young, and like those who have gone before them, they will earn their own experience.

President Grant in his anticipated nterposition in the affairs of Cuba, it is clear that the great powers of the world cannot always remain quiet at the continuation of the horrors of the civil war. If the insurgents are primarily responsible for the exasperation of the strife, the Spaniards are not a whit behind them in savage barbarity. They have, in fact, made reconciliation impossible. They have closed the door to negotiation. They listen to nothing but unconditional surrender, and with the fierce memory of past cruelties, that is impossible Bitter war to the knife will go on till the civilized world demands and enforces peace. The Spaniards have recently inaugurated a system more cruel and relentless than ever, and make every rebel life the reward of so much gold. The baser element of avarice is joined to the fiendish one of vengeance, and the hounded patriot is marked as the prey of the mercenary assassin. Peace, as between the parties, is impracticable. The contest has become a reflection upon christendom. The preservation of Cuba to the Spanish Crown is not to be weighed against the wounds of outraged humanity, inflicted for the maintenance of Spanish honor. It is time to say to Spain, "hold!

THE South Carolina election of

enough!"

Judges, though effected through a negro Legislature, conveys a world of caution to us in North Carolina, where such a thing may be done through a popular election. The fortunate Democratic majority in the last Convention took it out of the power of the Republicans, had the majority been with them, to make changes in the Constitution which might have imposed two or three negro Judges upon the people. Now, there is only one District which is in danger of being so cursed. It may be possible for the white people of that District to avert such a calamity by enlightening the negroes themselves upon the impolicy of such a course, because it may be possible to demonstrate to them that the pride of race is indulged at the expense of interest.

The dirty, beastly bloated specimen of negro humanity, the man Whipper, only now kept from the bench by the refusal of Gov. Chamberlain to commission him, stands as a terror to the repetition of any such an insult and outrage, and it is to be hoped that he is the last negro Judge we will hear of. But since Chamberlain is condemned by the official organs of the Republican party, and Whipper lauded as a | ed, and the principles brought face very proper man, no doubt the effort will be to give North Carolina a similar specimen, and therefore it is as' well to be or guard to make it im-

EARTHQUAKE.

The unusual phenomenon of Wednesday night, perceived here, but making its most sensible demonstration at Richmond, has excited its natural comment, and people begin to inquire as to the probability of a recurrence of the terrible visitor, and speculate upon the dangers that may overwhelm them at any moment.

It seems to be a well established fact based upon scientific observaion, with some theories apparently well founded, upon the thickness of the earth's crust, that while the Atlantic slope may sympathise in the convulsive throes of the earth at a distant point, there can be no apprehension of shocks so great as to endanger life or injury property. There is no record within the range of authentic history to show that any such has occurred east of the Alleghanies since the great upheavals which gave those mountains existence. True, the country has been well shaken at times. Some here may remember the shock in the Spring of 1853 which occurred about mid-day, and rocked houses and rattled crockery alarmingly.

But it is not probable that in the present condition of the earth, shocks more severe or more dangerous will be felt. The only region of the United States, east of the Rocky Mountains, which has ever been subject to really disastrous convulsions, was that section of the Mississippi Valley lying south of St. Louis, and extending nearly as far down as Natchez, but felt most sensibly on the western side of the river. In 1811, for many months, that whole country was subject to daily and nightly shocks. There was scarcely an hour that the earth was not in violent tremor. The towns of New Madrid and St. Genevieve were almost destroyed and the inhabitants abandoned them. Large tracts of land sunk beneath the surface and gave place to lakes which exist to this day. The Mississippi changed

WHATEVER may be the motives of channels, and the face of nature was completely altered.

The shocks felt on this side of the Alleghanies are nothing more than the impulse of motion communicated through the elastic crust of the earth, floating on its liquid sea of molten matter, from some central point of disturbance in the central seats of volanic action in Central, or South America. It is probable that within a fortnight authentic information will be given of disastrous eruptions or destructive earthquakes in those regions.

AN INCIDENT OF THE WAR.

Remarkable Duel Between the Commanders of a Federal and a Rebel Scout.

A correspondent of the Chigago Tribune sends it the following interesting communication: On the 12th day of June, 1863, I witnessed a duel between a Captain Jones, commanding a Federal scout, and Captain Fry, commanding a Rebel scout in Greene county, Fast fennessee. These two men had been fighting each other for six months. with the fortunes of battle in the favor of one and then the other. Their commands were camped on either ide of Lick creek, a large and sluggish stream, too deep to ford and too shallow for a ferry-boat; but there a bridge spanned the stream for the convenience of the travelling public. Each of them guarded this bridge, that communication should go neither north or south as the railroad track, had been broken up months before. After fighting each other for several months and contesting the point as to which should hold the bridge, they agreed to fight a duel, the conqueror to hold the bridge undisputed for the time being. Jones gave the challenge, and accepted. The terms were that they should fight with navy piscols at twenty yards apart, deliberately walking towards each other, and firing until the last chamber of their pistols was discharged, unless one or the other fell before all the discharges were made. They chose their seconds, and agreed upon a rebel surgeon (as he was the one in either command) to attend them in case of danger. Jones was certainly a fine-looking fellow, with light hair and blue eyes, five feet ten inches in height, looking every inch the military chieftain.— He was a man that soldiers would admire and ladies regard with admiration. I never saw a man more cool, determined, and heroic under the circumstances. I have read of the deeds of chivalry and knight-errantry in the middle ages and of brave en embalmed in modern poesy; it, when I saw this man Jones come to the duelist's stratch, fighting not for real or supposed wrongs to himself, but, as he honestly thought, for his country and the glory of the flag, I could not help admiring the man notwithstanding he fought for the freedom of the negro, which I was

Fry was a man full six feet high, ender, with long, wavy, curling hair, jet black eyes, wearing a slouch hat and gray suit, and looking rather the demon than the man. There was nothing ferocious about him; but he had that self-sufficient non-chalance that said, "I will kill you." Without a doubt, he was brave, cool, and collected, and, aithough suffering from a terrible flesh wound in his left arm, received a week before, he manlifested no symptoms of distress, but seemed ready for the fight.

The ground was stepped off by the pistols loaded and exchango face. I shall never forget that meeting. Jones, in his military, boyish mood, as they shook hands, remarked that-

And bathes every wound with a tear They turned around and walked back to the point designated. Jones' second had the word "Fire," and as he slowly said "One-two-threefire!" they simultaneously turned at the word "one," and instantly fired. Neither was hurt. They cocked their pistols and deliberately walked towards each other, firing as they went. At the fifth shot Jones threw up his right hand, and, firing his pistol in the air, sank down. Fry was in the act of firing his last shot, but seeing Jones fall, silently lowered his pistol dropped it to the ground, and sprang to Jones' side, taking his head in his lap as he sat down, and asked him if I discovered that Jones was shot through the region of the stomach, the bullet glancing around that organ, and coming out to the left of the spinal column; besides, he had received three other frightful flesh wounds in other portious of his body. I dressed his wounds, and gave him such stimulants as I had. He after wards got well.

Fry received three wounds-one reaking his left arm, one in the left, and the other in the right side. Afer months of suffering he got well, Neither of them asked for a discharge, but both resumed their commands when they got well, and fought the war out to the bitter end, and to-day are partners in a wholesale business down South, doing a good business, and verifying the sentiment of Byron that "A soldier braves death," &c., &c. Trusting that the above truthful narrative will be a lesson to some peoole North and South, that stayed on the outside and yelled "Seek Dog!" and still not satisfied with the results of the war, let me subscribe myself a reconstructed

AN INDIANA COUNTY SENSATION. -The Johnstown (Pa.) Tribune says: Diamondville, Indiana county, enjoys a legitimate sensation. years ago a lady was arrested for supposed infanticide, but at the trial of her case she was acquitted, and the prosecutor was compelled to pay the costs. A few days ago the tenants occupying the house in which the McClures resided at that time had occasion to repair the kitchen floor, and upon removing some of the boards a small pine box was discovered. Upon opening it the skeleton of an infant was revealed, and in the box was also found a case knife, a pair of seissors and an awl. ---

The Late Homicide in Robeson. We published yesterday from the Wilmington Journal a brief account of the recent killing of a man named Amos Taylor by three disguised men, in the presence of his family. The following particulars of the affair and its results, from the Lumberton Robesonian, will be found of peculiar interest, as a Minister's character was involved in the affair: On Sunday morning last a report reached this place that Amos Taylor had on the previous night been murdered in a most cruel and brutal manner. It seems that the deceased had been getting ton timber during the day, and reached home between sunset and dark; his family consisted only of himself and his wife. About dark whilst he was eating supper, three armed men with masked faces entered his humble cabin and after elling him to the floor, dragged him to the road a distance of about three hundred yards and beat him unmercifully with sticks and large switcher hie wife being present, imploring them to spare his life. Instead, however, heeding her remonstrances, the murderous trio deliberately fired a shot into the neck of their victim killing him instantly. On the following day, the Corner's Inquest, (B. Godwin acting as special was empannelled over the dead body. It seems that from the evidence of the wife of the deceased, who by the way has the appearance and the reputation of being idiotic, implicated three sons of the Rev. Furney Prevatt, to wit: Joseph Prevatt, Rev. F. A. Prevatt and A. N. Prevatt. The parties were all arrested on Sunday last, by Sheriff McMillan and his posse, and were brought to this place, where on Monday last, before Justices Proctor, Blake and Barnes, they had their trial. After examining a few of the State's witnesses, the Justices decided at once to enter into a not pros as to Joseph and Averitt, but the idiotic wife of the deceased having testified that she believed one of them sorter talked like the Rev. F. A. Prevatt, this gentleman was anxious that all the facts so far as he was concerned should be elicited, and made public. This was done, and the proof was made by several witnesses espec ally by a young lady and young gentleman, who were at the time living with Rev. Mr. Prevatt, that this gentleman was at home at the time when the homicide was committed-sick himself, and that his wife was also sick. The evidence was so incontestably plain that these parties were made the victims of perse-cution and faise accusation that the sympathy of the entire assemblage emed to be drawn towards them. We cannot imagine a more unpleasant position than that in which the Rev. F. A. Prevatt, a young Baptist minister, was placed, when arrested by an officer of the law, taken in custody from his family, charged with the crime of murder, put upon his trial on the evidence of an idiotic woman, when the facts clearly showel that he was as innocent of the charge as an unborn babe. How very careful should persons be to bring charges and accusations, calculated to ruin the usefulness and blast the reputation of those against whom there is not, upon investigation a scintilla of evidence to sup-

The numerous friends of the Rev. F. A. Prevatt will be pleased to learn the victorious manner in which he has passed through this flery ordeal, and if injured innocence is ever calculated to inspire sympathy in the man heart entitled to it. Of course they were all acquitted.

Every true Southern soldier wil echo the sentiment of the following beautiful lines by Father Ryan: "No verhand drew sword from stain as free, And never sword led braver band, or braver bed for a brighter land, or brighter land had cause so grand, or a cause a cul-f like Lee."

A Singular Accident-the Terrible Explesion of a Gas Main in Boston and Loss of Life.

The telegrams have briefly announced the explosion of a gas main in Boston on Wednesday evening. causing much loss of life. The following additional particulars will be found of interest:

Shortly before 7 o'clock Wednesday evening a terrible explosion oc-curred in South Boston, by which a large number of persons were injured and several killed. As yet it is impossible to learn the cause of the explosion or the extent of the dam age. The large gas main running under the Federal street bridge South Boston, and thence along the water's edge under the pavement on Federal street, exploded with a loud report, tearing up the pavement for a distance of 150 feet or more.

The street was thronged with people at the time, and many were bu-ried among the debris. Crosby's grain warehouse was badly shattered and will have to be taken down. The foreman was instantly killed. It is supposed that several persons were b'own into the water. Several dead bodies have already been taken out. The wildest rumors prevail.

Several persons were killed out right, and six or eight known to have been in the vicinity of the explosion are missing, and are supposed to have been blown into the water and drowned. Parties are now engaged with grappling irons dredging the river for the bodies. As yet there is no positive knowledge of the cause of the explosion, but it is supposed that the recent cold weather caused the pipe to burst, and the ground becoming impregnated with gas, ignited from some cause and caused the explosion The scene of the explosion is thronged with hundreds of auxious and curious people. The main pipe is about five inches in dismeter and passes under Federal street bridge, and along the causeway leading from it up Dorchester avenue, the continus ation in South Boston of Federal st. This causeway is composed of three feet or more of dirt and gravel, with the pavement resting on a foundation of piling, and on either side for seventeen feet or more is the river. Eye witnesses state that the first incimation was a bright flash about midway on the causeway, followed by a sharp explosion, paving stones, gravel and debris flying in all direc-tions, and almost immediately thereafter the causeway on the right hand side, under which run the gas main, fell over into the river, carrying over with it several persons who were stunned, injured or killed by the ex-plosion. The number of these is no yet ascertained, but it is feared several vere buried under the debris at the bottom of the river. The pavement was completely torn up for a distance of 175 feet from the wooden portion of the bridge to Crosby's warehouse, which is built upon piling at the end of the causeway on the South Boston ide. This building was badly battered and shattered. Had the explosion ccurred five minutes later the loss of ife would have beet far greater, as he draw of the bridge had been up for some time and a crowd of 300 of 400 persons, on their way from the

the causeway. The Methodist journals, commenting upon Bishop Haven's recent en-dorsement of President Grant for a third term, are at some pains to em-phasize the idea that the Boston speech is entitled to no extra notice and invested with no special signifi cance because it was made by a Bish-They insist that it was only Gilbert Haven in an individual capacity that slopped over the other day in Boston, and are strenuous in disavowing that the Methodist Church has any disposition to employ her ecclesiastical machinery in

had collected on this side and in a few minutes would have swarmed upon the business of President Grant. There is a good story told of a Southwestern member of the House, who was in the Senate just after the war. It seems that a bill was brought forward in accordance with the nev dispensation of that day, to enable colored women to swear infants to white fathers. Whereupon, he moved to amend the bill by proving that fathers should have unlimited control of these unfortunate children until they reached twenty-one. That looked so much like slaves and so antagonistic to Lincoln's emancipation proclamation that it killed the bill .- kichmond (Va.) Enquirer.
